

Paris, June 6, 2016 – Following publications in the press this week-end, Compagnie des Alpes confirms its intention, clearly stated since 2015, to explore partnerships, possibly involving equity, which will enable the Company to roll out its international development strategy, particularly in markets with high growth potential (notably in China). Within this context, Caisse des Dépôts has reiterated its support for the Compagnie des Alpes strategy and its intention of maintaining its position as shareholder of reference.

Since then, growing signs of interest in the Company and its development project have been received. Against this backdrop, discussions are being conducted with different investors and/or industrialists. However, no decisions have been made to date.

Compagnie des Alpes is squarely focused on the further deployment of its strategy, which rests on three main pillars:

- Regenerate volume growth in ski areas
- Increase the appeal and the capacity of its historical parks
- Develop partnerships abroad in order to achieve critical mass and gain access to the major markets.
